

ABSTRACT

Apparatus and methods are provided. Field-effect transistors, select gates, and select lines have first and second conductive layers separated by an interlayer dielectric layer. A conductive strap is disposed on either side of the first and second conductive layers. Each strap electrically interconnects the first and second conductive layers.